INVESTIGATIVE SERVICES

TIME IS CRITICAL

As seconds tick away, so do investigative leads and evidence, intellectual property rights, and potential legal remedies, while at the same time liability and losses can quickly mount.

Calling Protek the moment you think something seems “off,” just might be the difference between a manageable “situation” and a major incident.

PHYSICAL AND ELECTRONIC

Investigations in today’s electronically interconnected world must be able to move seamlessly among many worlds — from physical to digital, local to global, and back again. Today it’s rare for an investigation not to delve into digital evidence, from emails to PDA data; from electronic documents to Internet activity.

Similarly, it’s increasingly rare for an investigation to be confined to the four walls of your building.

Protek gives you top-of-the-line investigators backed by industry-leading computer forensics. With clients ranging from Fortune 100 corporations to sole proprietorships, from government agencies to private citizens, you can be confident Protek will deliver accurate, prompt and confidential investigative results.
